One of Shakespeare's best-loved comedies, Twelfth Night was 'blissfully reborn' (Telegraph) for the 2012/13 season at London's Globe Theatre, under the direction of Tim Carroll. The hilarious tale of misdirection and deception is performed here by an all-male cast, among whom we find Mark Rylance as Olivia and Roger Lloyd-Pack as Sir Anthony Aguecheek. The production also marks Stephen Fry's triumphant return to the stage as the pompous Malvolio, ridiculous in his yellow stockings.

- Broadcast into cinemas worldwide in June 2013.
- Features Stephen Fry as Malvolio & Mark Rylance as Olivia.
- An all-male production.
- One of the Globe's finest & most acclaimed productions.
- Extra features include: Cast gallery.

What the press said:

“...no single actor dominates this radical yet perfectly balanced production at the Globe” The Guardian

“The irony is that Fry's performance - intelligently pondered, generous to the other actors, and almost studiously not a "star turn" by a celebrity guest artiste - is exactly the opposite in tendency” The Independent
